Overview

Goal Statement

- Expand public and private partnerships to enhance the impact of NSF's investments and contribute to American economic competitiveness and security. By September 30, 2019, NSF's number of partnerships and/or award actions with other federal agencies, private industry, and foundations/philanthropies will grow by 5 percent, relative to the FY 2017 baseline, to make available infrastructure, expertise, and financial resources to the US scientific and engineering research and education enterprise.

Challenge/Opportunity

- Private industry, foundations, and non-profits, together with other federal agencies and international funding organizations, bring additional expertise, resources, and capacity to NSF-funded research. This, in turn, accelerates discovery and translation of research to products and services, and enhances preparation of the future workforce to benefit society and grow the American economy.
- Partnerships require significant time and intellectual capital, as well as strategic foresight, in their development. NSF will improve efficiencies in developing, implementing, and managing partnerships to ultimately grow the number and scope of partnerships and maximize the scientific, economic, and societal impacts of its investments.

APG Co-Leads:

Jim Deshler: Deputy Division Director, Directorate for Biological Sciences

Ken Calvert: Division Director, Directorate for Computer & Information Science & Engineering

APG Deputy Co-Leads:

Tara Bracken: Science Writer, Directorate for Biological Sciences

Meghan Houghton: Staff Associate, Directorate for Computer & Information Science & Engineering

Goal Structure & Strategies

NSF will pursue the APG by implementing a strategic vision for future partnerships that builds upon existing and emerging experience. NSF will enhance and expand its investments along three axes:

- Research and innovation;
- Research infrastructure; and
- Workforce development.

Toward each axis, NSF will pursue a multipronged strategy aligned with its mission. The elements of this process include:

- Strategically identify opportunities with potential partners (e.g., workshops, meetings, other outreach).
- Work externally as well as internally to efficiently formalize partnerships (e.g., formulate and sign MOUs, streamline MOU processes internally).
- Implement partnerships (e.g., issue new or updated funding opportunities, make awards, execute agreements).

Data Accuracy and Reliability

An NSF-wide Implementation Team determined data sources (NSF administrative databases) and designed a data collection methodology that would be uniform across all units in FYs 2017 (baseline year), 2018, and 2019. An inventory instrument was developed and implemented to collect reliable information on the number and types of partnerships and/or award actions in use at NSF.

For the purposes of this baseline assessment, a partnership activity was defined as a formal agreement between NSF and at least one external, domestic stakeholder and for which there was investment, other quantifiable contribution, or new commitment formalized in the fiscal year. “Formal agreements” include, but are not limited to, Interagency Agreements (IAA) and Memoranda of Understanding (MOU).

A partner was defined as the external stakeholder with whom NSF engages in a partnership activity. Partners were categorized as interagency, private (including industry), and nonprofit/foundation.

Note that the following were not considered partnership activities for the purposes of this assessment: contracts, partnerships in which there is not at least one domestic participant, and activities through which NSF facilitates the formation of – but does not directly participate in – partnerships between external stakeholders or NSF-funded entities (beyond merely providing grant funding to said entities).
